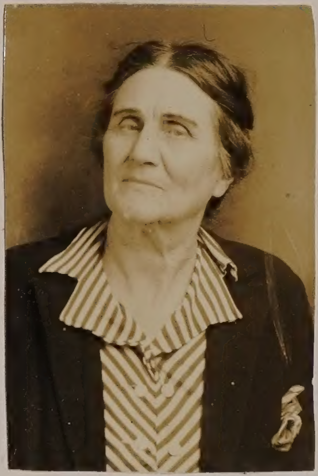
DEDICATION



We dedicate this, the 4th volume of The Middlesaxon, to one, who from our experience with her in the classroom, in school activities, in personel contact, has come to represent the dearest meaning S.H.S. has for us. She is associated in our minds with everything that is a part of our school.

It takes not two days in her classroom to observe her pet likes and dislikes and the qualities of mind and character which make her beloved to us. We know her reaction to belated entrances and her opinion of those who keep jabbering after class is called to order; we watch her "hug the stove warm" when the discussion is particularly interesting or timely.

We feel that with out the influence of her personality our years here would not hold the richness and completeness we have known. We dedicate this volume with deepest respect and admiration to Mrs. J. T. Marston.

CLASS HISTORY

September, four years ago marked an event in the lives of us who are Seniors. We, as inexperienced freshmen entered Saluda High School and were initiated into the swing of things by the vigorous swing of upper classmen's paddles. Everybody soon knew everyone else so in organizing, we elected Virginia Green president. It was in our freshman year that we were snow-bound and couldn't get to school for fourteen days.

Sophomore! the word made us swell with importance! In this our second year we had begun to feel our responsibility as a part of the school and accordingly entered into school activities. Hannah Bourne was made our president. During that year the death of Mr. Brown, our principal, affected us more than anything else. We can never express what the loss of such a loyal friend meant to us. When we were sophomores, our athletes, having found their positions on the teams helped "to bring home the bacon" for Saluda School. To this day we have kept up the good record of winning more games than we have lost.

As Juniors, Glenn Williams became our president. That session, 1940-41 marked a series of unforgetable events among which was the Junior play, "Here Comes Charlie", directed by Miss Glenn. The proceeds from the play gave the Seniors a trip to Washington as a parting gift from the Juniors.

At the head of the list this time with no one to look up to, we as Seniors accepted the challenge of the class of '41 to "carry on" and with the same president, Glenn Williams, and Mr. Fraley as sponser, we set about our task. It was then that we had the opportunity and experience of publishing the "Middlesaxon." The Senior play, "Cheerio My Deario", was a milestone in the direction of June. Then came the Junior-Senior "Shindig", and last but not least, graduation.

Our Bacculaurate Service was held in the Saluda Baptist Church with Mr. Cowan, speaking. Commencement exercises were held on the night of June 2, 1942, at which time Dorthy Redd, our valavictorian, and Roberta Woodward, our salutatorian, gave their addresses and Senator Wright made a speech. Everyone of the Seniors seemed happy to graduate but sorry to leave our good "ole alma mater".

PARODY

I think that I shall never see
Another sap as dumb as me:

Someone whose dopey brain is prest
By math's gosh-awful final test;

Upon whose work zero had lain,
Who took exams over again.

A gal who's studied VOGUE all day
And thought the nights were right for play;

Who toiled to get, for Summer
wear,
A sun-tan smooth and smart-
So there !!

If cells are built for fools
like me
Shove me in one and turn the key !!!

SALUDA GIRLS COME THROUGH BASKETBALL SEASON 99%

The Saluda Girls made a clean sweep of the 1941-42 Basketball season--almost. They won all their games against all opponents except one game to Marriott on a sandy court by the close score, 28-27. In all, they won 7 games and lost one. Saluda made it 2 out of 3 with Marriott at West Point which gives them a reasonable claim to the championship of the Middle Penninsula.

The basketball season for Middlesex County opened when the Saluda girls met Syringa on October 15. Saluda won 28-6.

However, more competition was given the truimphant sextette when they met the Marriott girls on Saluda's home court. Saluda won after a hard fought game, by a score of 29-23.

On November 4, we made our return trip to Marriott. This time Marriott defeated Saluda by one point, 28-27.

November 12 found the Saluda Blue Jays in the best of spirits. This time King William was their prey. Anne Jordan went on a scoring spree. Gayle Chowning, Betty Woodward and Hannah Bourne were not far behind. King William found Saluda's zone defense impregnable and when the smoke cleared away the score was 47-9 in favor of Saluda.

Saluda won their second game from Syringa by a score of 22-8. The game was slow but hard fought all the way.

The second complete walkover of the season took place when Saluda met King William in their gym on November 27. Numerically speaking this game was not as much of a triumph for Saluda as the first one with King William. The final score was 31-8.

One of the most exciting games of the season was played with Mathews on the night of December 12. Throughout the entire game the score was nip and tuck, but in the final quarter, Saluda pulled ahead and won by a score of 23-16.

Having split by small scores, the Saluda Blue Jays wished to challenge the Marriott six again. This was arranged when the boys played West Point in their gym on the night of January 20th. Playing under the conviction that they were the better team, the girls came through triumphantly with a score of 24-13. This much desired triumph climaxed the basketball season of 1941-1942.

September 1942 will find the Saluda Blue Jays minus six of its players. Those leaving are Anne Jordan, Gayle Chowning, Betty Woodward, Roberta Woodward, Maria Jones, and Hannah Bourne. All of these girls have added much to the victorious season and will be missed when basketball season rolls around next fall.

Anne Jordan was the high scorer of the season with 111 points, followed by Gayle Chowning with 76, Betty Woodward, 29, and Hannah Bourne with 15.

During the 1949-42 season, Saluda's boys basketball team played thirteen ball games, winning ten, losing three, and scoring 291 points to its opponents 193.

The team won its first eight games without much trouble, but ran into more than it could handle when it met Colonial Beach.

Colonial Beach won the Class D championship, but Saluda held the champs to a 28-28 tie during the regulation game, only to lose in an overtime period, 30-28.

Bounding back from this defeat, the team took its next two games from Mathews, winning the first game in typical "Frank Merriwell" style, with Tyler Thrift sinking a field goal in the very last 20 seconds tof play.

After the Mathews games, we were defeated by West Point in a very close ball game which almost ended in a riot.

Our final game was one which was really a heartbreaker. Leading by 4 points with 30 seconds to go, we were defeated when Wagenen and Thrift had to leave the game on account of injury and fouls respectively. It was really a tough game to lose.

Our attack this season was lead by Billy Wagenen, center, who piled up a total of 143 points, averaging 11 points per game.

Co-captain Thrift trailed with 78.

Those two boys in addition to Ben Wagenen, Joe Green, Lee Bristow and Glenn Williams have finished their basketball activities as far as playing is concerned at Saluda, for they are supposed to graduate in June.

From the graph above, can be seen that Saluda won its games as long as the weather permitted the team to practice out of doors, but when bad weather prevented practicing, the team lost and the graph went down. When a team loses two games by one point and another by two points because there is no place to practice, it seems that some provision should be made to take care of this matter. It is highly possible that the team, with a gymnasium, could have had a perfect season.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

GIRLS

Last fall the high school girls were organized into six intramural teams to play a series of games in softball, basketball, and volley ball. Each team selected its own captain who was responsible for the equipment and scores. At the end of each six weeks period, a treat was given to the team which won the most games.

This organization of teams was resumed in the spring. Only those girls who were interested in softball volunteered. Four teams were organized. Two teams played each other daily and the winner played the varsity the following day.

In this way, the varsity was given practice and the teamwork helped those participation. These games were enjoyed immensely by those who took part and by all the teachers who refreed.

BOYS

Intramural teams were organized among the high school boys of our school by Mr. Fraley at the beginning of the school year. The boys were chosen into six teams, each led by a captain. A series of fifteen games of football, basketball and vollyball, combined, was played. The team winning the most games received a prize. Then new teams would be chosen to play another series of the same games. Due to the cold weather these games were abandoned.

With the coming of baseball season three teams were organized to play a series of baseball games. Each game is limited to two days and each team limited to two consecutive games. This plan is meeting with great success.

If some time after June 1st., you happen to journey to the metropolis of the south and see an old haggard woman looking like one of the witches in "Macbeth", but without that supernatural gleam in her eye, you will know that it is yours truly after her victims got through with her.

Do you remember--how Thomas was always the target for the Professor's ironical arrows.... which reminds me that Cupid has had a lot of work this winter (the historic triangle has been in evidence several times since last summer). ---- How October brought fresh ambitions for certain demoselles who took that well-known First Aid Class and declared without batting an eyelash that it was the best class they had ever taken!!!--how when the army took Urbanna by storm some adolescents said they didn't like soldiers anyway so it didn't matter to them whether they went to the dance or not -- that one memorable occasion on which Skiis got to school on time and was awarded by approving glances by the Professor----How the Dean of Women ruled Detention Hall with an iron hand when certain social seekers tried to make a social hour out of it--how every football game held a particular attraction for the weaker sex, while at the end of the season no one knew any more about the game then when it was beginning--how Swampy was usually seen!!---- surrounded by a multitude of boys and all wrapped up in the conversation--how Jinks turned into an Angel over night, left of his Pierre LeVall beret, and practically purred, when he first glanced at Margaret Abbott--how every motorcycle on the road is carefully given the once over by a certain Senior in hopes-------how Christmas vacation was welcomed by all with open arms--which reminds me of certain things which happened during the holidays (Censored)----Journeys to basketball games in the station-wagon and how Knapps was a favorite stopping place for everybody in hopes of (?)--how after an exciting gootball game in Charlottsville, the whole crowd stopped off in Richmond---and Icky got sick from eating Chow Mein--how practicing for the Senior play created a sensation in more ways than one----some people turned out to be bashful who really weren't at all--how the approach of spring brought us birds and flowers the chief one of which was Lillie Belle.

Off the campus--Those Friday night get-to-gethers in the big city sometimes turned out for the best and sometimes-----? Some Seniors must count time by seconds because Virginia said one Monday morning that she hadn't seen John for so long---- while we already knew she had a date with him the night before. It was fun after the new bus was put on, to sing--that is until the novelty wore off--The Honorable Keats must have foreseen the modern generation and its needs when he wrote "Beauty is truth, truth beauty, that's all you know on earth, and all you need to know."------anyway, our highly esteemed faculty doesn't agree-------The inevitable has happened!!!!!!--in case you don't quite understand, we are referring to Anne and Thomas!! It must be quite a case, considering his pink ears, and her powdering her nose! But they do say opposite people attract each other.

Will you ever forget the morning the Urbanna girls marched into the arena, armed with painted glasses, only to meet the hostile advances (and glances)of our teachers

And now while I still have time before I ruin everyone, I'd like to say good-bye and may the writer of this column in the '43 Annual have more success in keeping peace between everyone.
